Internet: £22

Dates

The large room is available from the 15th of October; the small room from the 1st of November. There may be some flexibility, so if this almost-works then get in touch.

House culture

Every Monday we host house dinner and invite lots of guests - often it's around 14 or so people.

We generally are quite communal with food, in general with a shared weekly grocery shop. Most of our food is vegetarian or vegan.

Current housemates have academic backgrounds in machine learning, neuroscience, physics and philosophy. New housemates welcome whether their interests overlap with ours or totally different 😊

Current flatmates

Richard: Blogger + philosophy enthusiast. Keen on poetry and epistemology.

Previous flatmates testimonials

“This is the best house I ever lived in! It's truly a place that I can call home due to the amazing people that live here. You'll feel this is your second family!! This house will transform your life!”

Camille, who is genuinely this enthusiastic about almost everything.

Next Steps

If we're already connected on Facebook then get in touch to come round and have a look at the house for yourself. If not, add us all and send a message to sort things out 😊 A link to everyone is in the current flatmates section.
